A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.
THE ADVERTISEMENT OF THE CARSON
SOAP WORKS which appears in to-day's JOURNAL was composed and written by me before ever the manager or workman of the Carson Soap Works knew what a piece of soap was. I am surprised at L. S. Greenlaw appropriating an advertisement written by a person not having charge of the editorial interests of a certain portion of our State. Were I connected with institutions of learning I would not appropriate the simple composition of a hard-headed son of toll, endeavoring to advance my own interests.

OUR CENTENNIAL MILLION.

We are afraid that the country will fall short of producing one hundred million dollars worth of the precious metals during the Centennial year, which we have fondly hoped would be the case, for nothing could be more appropriate. Still if our hopes are to be dashed to the ground we shall surely have the satisfaction of knowing that this year's yield will be larger than that of any previous year, which will be some consolation to us. The receipts of treasure from the mines and mining districts, through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, for the quarter ending June 30th, aggregate $17,600,000, against $15,786,000 for the previous quarter. There has been a marked falling off in the deliveries from the Consolidated Virginia mine during the past 60 days, but the out-turn from the California mine has more than made good the deficiency from that quarter, and the result for the half year is the largest in the history of the country. For the quarter ending June 30, 1875, the receipts were $12,131,800, against $10,448,700 for the previous quarter, making a total of $22,580,500 for the half year ending June 30, 1875, against $33,387,300 for the same time this year. About 40 per cent. of the bullion produced from the California, Consolidated Virginia, Belcher and Ophir mines is in gold, and much of it is sent here in the form of gold bars. Additional mills will be put in operation during the last half of the year, which may greatly increase the product. There has been a gain of 33 per cent. in the receipts this year, almost entirely due from Nevada and California. Of the imports from Mexico, $447,700 was in coin and the balance in fine silver. The shipments of treasure to the East, through the Express Company, for the past quarter amounted to $8,916,000, against $9,257,600 for the previous quarter. The monthly shipments this year aggregate a grand total of $28,174,400 for the six months ending June 30, 1876. We believe by the end of the year we shall be able to count up in round numbers the magnificent sum of $70,000,000 as the product for the year. That ain't bad.

NO CHINESE LEGISLATION THIS SESSION.—The New York Sun's Washington special says: Hamilton has left for home, having two weeks leave, and does not expect to return this session. He is chairman of the Sub-committee on Foreign Affairs, having charge of the Chinese immigration question, and instructed to make an adverse report on the joint resolution offered by Piper, requesting the President to have the Burlingame Treaty modified so as to prohibit Chinese immigration to the United States. It is understood that the committee, a majority of whom are Democrats, could not see their way clear to recommend the proscriptive of the people of one more than the people of another nation. There is, however, a joint resolution not so sweeping as Piper's, before the Committee on Commerce, which does not meet the approval of Piper, and he is a member of the Committee on Commerce, the Chinese question may be regarded as in abeyance until next session.

MERE CANT.—The New York Herald thinks that the Civil Service declaration of the St. Louis platform as mere cant. The author of the platform would be laughed at if he should seriously express the opinion that Tilden, if elected, will retain all Republicans in subordinate offices against whom no objection can be made but their politics.

NATIONAL AND STATE ELECTIONS.

Tuesday, the 7th of November, is the day upon which the Presidential election will be uniformly held this year in all the States. Several of the State elections, however, will be held previous to that day. That of Kentucky occurs in August, but that of North Carolina, heretofore held in August, has been, by recent constitutional amendments, changed to November. Maine and Vermont will hold elections in September. Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, West Virginia and Georgia elections take place on the second Tuesday in October. The result in the first two of these October States may largely influence the Presidential election; they have both recently been classed among the doubtful. The success of Hayes in Ohio heretofore, and his nomination for the Presidency, may render his State sure for the Republicans in October; but should both Ohio and Indiana, says the San Francisco Call, be carried for that party, in October, the effect on Democratic prospects in November would be essentially changed.

THE NEW STATE.—Colorado voted on the first day of July on the question of adopting a Constitution. As Congress had some time ago passed an enabling act, if the terms have been accepted in the vote of Saturday, nothing remains to perfect her entrance into the Union except the proclamation of the President, which will probably appear in a few days. This State, says the Bulletin, starts off in the Centennial year with fine prospects. There has been a fair, but not rapid increase of population. Railroads have opened up the country. Denver is a bright and growing city, and there are a number of smaller towns which contain all the elements of future growth. If the Act of admission is perfected in season, Colorado will probably cast her electoral vote at the coming election.

THE CONTEST.—The New York Herald talks sense sometimes. It now argues that the coming Presidential election will turn chiefly on party spirit and personal strength of the candidates. If Indiana goes Democratic in October, it will break and soften the blow which is pretty sure to come from Ohio; but if the Democrats lose both those States they will have scarcely a chance of carrying New York, and the contest will be virtually decided before any States hold the Presidential election. In any event, the Herald considers the contest in New York to be doubtful, with the chances rather against the Democracy.

GEN. SHERMAN'S VIEWS.—A late Washington dispatch says that General Sherman, in speaking of the situation in the Indian country, says he thinks it will take the greater part of the Summer for the expeditions of Crook, Terry and Gibbon to subdue the Sioux—that it will be a trying campaign, in which our troops will suffer many losses; but that it will result in very effective punishment of these proud and refractory savages, who have never been at peace with us, and that they must be chastised until their submission will be such as to make them consent to live on their reservations.

HENDRICKS.—The New York Tribune says the St. Louis ticket ought to be beaten. The Convention completed in the nomination of Hendricks the event began in its compromise with inflation. Hendricks is an able, worthy gentleman, but his chief popularity comes from his financial heresies, and he was nominated less because he was a good man than because he is acceptable to the repudiators. The Tribune recognizes Tilden's great services to the State and eminent fitness for the highest office in the land, but says that, yoked with Hendricks and the platform, the Independents can not take the risk of voting for him.

THE POCHE RECORD in honor of the day, July 4th, 1876, it being the centennial anniversary of the nation, appeared in the national colors of America—red, white and blue. It is quite a novelty in printing newspapers and requires too much labor and cost to print it any other time than on a centennial anniversary, and the Record bears the honor of being the only paper on the Pacific Coast to undertake such an appropriate enterprise.

THE SIOUX HORROR.

PARTICULARS OF THE TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER.

Custer's Native Town Draped in Mourning—Intense Feeling of Sorrow Throughout the Country.

CHICAGO, July 7.

An Inter-Ocean special, under date of Bismarck, July 1, says that information from the Sioux expedition, dated Mouth of the Big Horn, July 1, says General Custer left the mouth of the Rosebud with twelve companies, to follow the trail of a large band of hostile Sioux. They followed it up in the direction of the Big Horn. The Indians were making for the eastern branch of the Little Big Horn. General Terry, with Gibbons' command of five companies of infantry and four of cavalry, started to the Big Horn to attack the enemy in the rear. On the morning of the 25th, two Crow scouts brought intelligence of the battle of the previous day. On receipt of the news, the command commenced its march in a southerly direction, where smoke could be seen, which showed that Custer had fired the Indian camp. Next morning, the head of the column entered the plain bordering on the bank of the Little Big Horn, where had recently stood an immense Indian village three miles in length. The ground was strewn with slaughtered horses, cavalry equipments, and the dead bodies of nine Indian chiefs. The clothes of Lieutenants Porter and Sturgis were also found, pierced with bullets. Further on was found the body of Lieut. McIntosh. Just then a scout returned with the news that Reno was entrenched with the remnant of seventy cavalry on a bluff near by, waiting for relief. The command pushed on and found Reno with the remainder of seven companies. Reno's command had been fighting since Sunday noon, the 25th, until relieved by Terry on the night of the 26th. Terry's arrival caused the Indians to retire. Custer knew nothing of the fate of the other five companies which had been separated from them on the 25th to make an attack under Custer's command at a point five miles down the right bank of the stream. Custer had, apparently, made an attack on the Indians and been compelled to retreat. His command was then cut off from the main body. They were forced into a narrow recess, where the men and horses lay slaughtered. Here were found the bodies of Custer and his two brothers and his nephew, Mr. Reade. Colonels Yates and Cooks and Captain Smith all lie in a circle of a few yards, and here one after another of Custer's brave command fell. Not a man escaped to tell the tale.

NEW YORK, July 7.
Special dispatches to nearly all the papers confirm the dreadful defeat and massacre of Custer's forces. It appears that his command, and Reno's attacked the camp at different moments, losing the moral effect of a simultaneous attack. Reno lost 95 killed and wounded. Custer's command was annihilated. Details show that the command reached the Indian camp on the Little Horn on June 25th. Major Reno, with three companies, attacked them on the south and was repulsed, his loss including Lieutenants McIntosh and Hodgson, Dr. DeWolf, fifty men killed and five wounded. Benton's command made for the bluff across the river, and escaped destruction by the timely arrival of the battalion. Custer with five companies attacked the lower part of the camp. Custer's expression was serene when found. About 3,000 warriors were engaged, and the Indians suffered heavy losses and abandoned an immense stock of supplies. Reno and Gibbons' command entrenched themselves until the evening of the 26th. Custer underestimated his enemies, separated his force and was defeated in detail. He probably misjudged the time necessary to make the distance between his own and Reno's force. The survivors of the command remained at the village two days burning the dead and caring for the wounded. The troops then fell back to the mouth of the Big Horn to bring away the wounded and to rest for future operations.

NEW TO-DAY.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 6.

A special to the Blade from Monroe, Mich., the home of General Custer, says: The startling news of the massacre of the General and his party by the Indians created the most intense feeling of sorrow among all classes. General Custer passed several years of his youth at school in Monroe, and his parents have resided there many years. His wife is the daughter of Hon. Daniel L. Bacon, a prominent citizen of that place, and is now at the post recently occupied by General Custer—Fort Abraham Lincoln. The town is draped in mourning, and a meeting of the Common Council and citizens is to be held this evening to take measures for an appropriate tribute to the gallant dead.

St. Louis, July 6.

A telegram from General Baggles, at St. Paul, to Captain Greenbale, commanding the cavalry at the Arsenal here, gives the following as the names of the officers killed in the fight between the Indians and General Custer's command: Gen. Custer, Col. Custer, Col. Keogh, Col. Yates, Col. Cook, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. McIntosh, Lieut. Calhoun, Lieut. Hodgson, Lieut. Reilly, Lieut. Pastor and Lieut. Sturgess. Lieut. Harrington is missing.

BRISTOW ACTING HONORABLY.

Bristow was before the Special House Whisky Committee Wednesday, but did not testify. It is reported that the Committee intend to question him concerning his communications with the President in the matter of whisky trials, and that he will refuse to divulge what he looks upon as confidential Cabinet communications.

NEW YORK Herald: John Morrissey is betting on Tilden. His bets range high. But one never knows how statesmen like the Honorable John bet until election day. A statesman may bet in bar-rooms and hedge around the corner.

BROOKLYN Argus: When Rutherford B. Hayes was floundering through the morass in front of Winchester, at the head of his men, he got the only kind of "mud" on him that would ever stick.

On Wednesday last William Kavanaugh was shot by his wife at Ruby Hill, the ball entering the thigh and inflicting a severe wound. He was beating his wife, when she drew a pistol and fired at him. Good woman.

The first vote ever cast in Cincinnati by an American citizen of Chinese birth was at the recent municipal election, by a Chinaman named Joseph Sing. He voted the Democratic ticket.

There is some doubt expressed whether Mr. Blaine may not prefer to stay in the House and be elected Speaker next Congress, instead of going to the Senate.

MORRILL ACCEPTS.—Senator Morrill has accepted the position of Secretary of the Treasury, and will probably begin his duties at once.

NEW TO-DAY.

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 6.

A special to the Blade from Monroe, Mich., the home of General Custer, says: The startling news of the massacre of the General and his party by the Indians created the most intense feeling of sorrow among all classes. General Custer passed several years of his youth at school in Monroe, and his parents have resided there many years. His wife is the daughter of Hon. Daniel L. Bacon, a prominent citizen of that place, and is now at the post recently occupied by General Custer—Fort Abraham Lincoln. The town is draped in mourning, and a meeting of the Common Council and citizens is to be held this evening to take measures for an appropriate tribute to the gallant dead.

St. Louis, July 6.

A telegram from General Baggles, at St. Paul, to Captain Greenbale, commanding the cavalry at the Arsenal here, gives the following as the names of the officers killed in the fight between the Indians and General Custer's command: Gen. Custer, Col. Custer, Col. Keogh, Col. Yates, Col. Cook, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. McIntosh, Lieut. Calhoun, Lieut. Hodgson, Lieut. Reilly, Lieut. Pastor and Lieut. Sturgess. Lieut. Harrington is missing.
